The felles lab has two separate divisions: one for those that take both courses (TKP 4105 and TKP4110) and one for those that take one course only.

Each group has one week for preparing a work plan (green period) followed by a two weeks period in which the experiments are done (red period). The reports are to be prepared in the following two weeks (blue period).

To keep the number of people in the lab as low as possible at all times (Covid-19 security measures) the periods are not strict. Students are responsible to schedule sufficient time to write reports between the experiments.

The experiments will be assigned at in week 35.
